Pitt Med Professionalism Accolade

CONGRATULATIONS!

Vrusha Shah

MS2 Student

Vrusha was a fantastic "study buddy" during Reproductive & Developmental Biology. Nearly every day during the final week of the course, Vrusha and I booked a study room at Hillman library, drawing signaling pathways on the board and quizzing each other on various hormone actions. Vrusha was willing to explain concepts that I struggled with, which complemented my studying. She held me accountable and helped me stay current with class material, which was especially important given that our dedicated Step 1 break was starting shortly after. Prior to Repro, I had been studying on my own, but through working with Vrusha, I realized that I retain information better by talking out loud and learning from my peers. Walking through clinical cases with her was the key to my success in this course.

Submitted by a Medical Student
Reproductive & Developmental Biology, Spring 2024

University of Pittsburgh® | Office of the Learning Environment School of Medicine

www.ole.pitt.edu/PAIR