PITT MED PROFESSIONALISM ACCOLADE

MARISSA TREMOGLIE-BARKOWSKI

MS4 Student

"Marissa was truly exceptional during her acting internship on the Internal Medicine service at Montefiore. Clinically, she functioned at the level of an intern from the start. She carried a full patient load (5–6 patients daily) and managed complex cases with confidence, maturity, and sound clinical reasoning. She maintained excellent relationships with nursing and all interdisciplinary team members. Marissa also showed remarkable leadership in moments of stress...

...She frequently brought in relevant literature to rounds and applied new knowledge directly to her patient care. Impressively, she also took the time to support and teach third-year students during their first-ever clinical rotation...

...She built trusting relationships with patients and their families, and consistently went the extra mile to brighten the lives of those in the hospital for extended stays. She decorated patients' rooms for 4th of July, brought them treats, and took them for walks...Several of her patients commented that she provided the best care they'd ever received.

...She is intelligent, dependable, compassionate, and team-oriented. She sets the tone for what excellent patient care looks like, and I am confident she will be incredibly successful in the next steps of her career."
