University of Pittsburgh | Office of the Learning Environment School of Medicine

PITT MED PROFESSIONALISM ACCOLADE

RYAN KELLY

MS3 Student

"During rounds for the neurology service, this student noticed a patient in an adjacent room that was falling out of bed and calling for help. He immediately went to help the patient, hit the call button to alert the nurse, assisted the patient back into bed, and made sure that they were alright. It is not often that I see students act in this way without hesitation for patients, not to mention the fact that this patient was not under our direct care and in a different room."

Submitted by a Resident
Neurology Clerkship, Spring 2026