PITT MED PROFESSIONALISM ACCOLADE

SAMUEL "SAM" DING

MS3 Student

"Sam Ding was an outstanding colleague and medical student on his internal medicine clerkship. Sam took the time to learn about his colleagues and go out of the way to support the medical students, interns and senior resident. He actively sought to support the physical and emotional well-being of his classmate and the rest of the team. Sam always acted with such kindness towards patients and others. He actively reached out to a struggling student and went on walks with a patient who needed company. He often stayed late to help with any work that needed to be done, even minor tasks. He is an excellent colleague and will be an outstanding physician."
