CONGRATULATIONS!

Soukaina Eljamri

MS3 Student

Souki has been an incredible student mentor throughout my summer research at PittMed. She took the time out of her busy schedule to call me regularly to answer any questions I had and to provide guidance on how to most efficiently go about my research projects. She also gave me valuable tips on how to coordinate with attendings and other students in the clinical research setting. Souki's guidance extended beyond our research project; she informed me of various ENT conferences and connected me with my current faculty mentors. Thanks to her support, I gained confidence in my abilities and developed essential skills for productive research. I am incredibly grateful for her commitment to my growth and the lasting impact she has had on my journey as a researcher.
